FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

DEARANYONE.COM FEATURED ON AND COOL SITE OF THE DAY!

Vancouver, BC, May 15, 2005 ~ In a few short weeks, DearAnyone.com has already won acclaim from the arbiters of internet taste!

On Monday, May 9, USA Today chose DearAnyone.com as a Hot Site, and praised:

"Admit it - you've always had a secret, hidden urge to be Dear Abby. We know we have, which is why we were thrilled to find out about this interactive site. Visitors are presented with a user submitted question, and then have the opportunity to select their advice of choice from four unique, varied and intelligent choices. There are four categories of questions: love, work, family and teen. Additionally, visitors can register for free and submit a quandary of their own."

DearAnyone.com has been chosen by Cool Site of the Day to be its Cool Site for Monday, May 16, 2005. Cool Site of the Day is the granddaddy of all cool site selectors, called by the New York Times as "the arbiter of taste on the internet," while Yahoo! says, "Cool Site is still the original and the best."

The "Gallup Poll meets Dear Abby" concept of DearAnyone.com is winning over web critics. Find out what the buzz is all about! Contact DearAnyone.com to schedule an interview, or to find out more about the site.
